Andy Martin (martina@parliament.uk) manages House insurances.
Send him your claim form or you can call him on 020 7219 5732 for anything else.

WORLDWIDE

Personal Accident and Travel Insurance

For business travel outside of the UK

IMPORTANT - Take the emergency contact details with you when you travel.

The House of Commons (HoC) personal accident and travel insurance policy has been specially developed to give you comprehensive cover and peace of mind when you travel overseas on business. This leaflet gives you a summary of the benefits provided under the policy by leading insurer – Royal Sun Alliance (RSA). Full policy details are shown on the intranet:
<http://intranet.parliament.uk/finances/insurance/mps-insurance/>

WHO IS COVERED?

- All Members of Parliament
- Spouse or Civil Partner of an MP – ONLY when accompanying MP on official business
- Staff of the House – including secondments to EU or other legislatures (max 12 months)
- Any other person working temporarily for the HoC whilst travelling on Parliamentary business

WHERE CAN I TRAVEL TO?

- Anywhere in the world

There are no restrictions on destination. Areas of unrest or places where the Foreign Office advises against travel are included. You do NOT need any prior approval to travel.

Travel within the UK is not covered by this insurance.

WHAT AM I COVERED FOR?

Personal Accident	£200,000
Medical & Emergency Travel	UNLIMITED
Cancellation & delay	£10,000
Replacement Travel Documents	£2000
Baggage & Personal Effects	£10,000 (Single article limit £3000)
Business Equipment	£3000
Personal Money & Credit Cards	£5000 (Max £3000 cash)

Amounts shown are maximums – restrictions may apply.

IMPORTANT - Take the emergency contact details with you when you travel.

WHEN DOES COVER START AND END?

- Cover starts when you leave your home or place of business (whichever occurs last)
- Cover ends when you arrive back at your home or place of business (whichever occurs first)
- Time spent on incidental leisure visits – a few days at the start or end of a business trip – is also covered (NEW)

WHAT OTHER SPECIAL BENEFITS DOES THE HOUSE OF COMMONS' INSURANCE POLICY HAVE?

- Emergency recall of Parliament £3,750 max per Member

This provision covers repatriation from a holiday abroad during a Parliamentary recess.

- Unlike most travel policies, there is no age limit for travellers, though persons over 80 cannot benefit from the Permanent Total Disablement provision of the Personal Accident cover.
- International Medical Assistance
  - Medically escorted repatriations
  - Evacuation by air ambulance
  - Aviation trained doctors and nurses – available 24/7

YOUR SECURITY AND RISK ASSESSMENT (NEW)

Travelling to new places is exciting but can be worrying too if you don't know the local customs, or the risks associated with the area.

Our insurer, RSA, has entered into a partnership with business risk consultants, Drum Cussac – website www.drum-cussac.com which gives you some valuable extra benefits:

- Pre-travel risk assessment reports
- Threat assessments

If you would like a risk assessment report before you travel, just contact Andy Martin (details on back cover). He can obtain one straight away for you. Better safe than sorry!

CIVIL UNREST

We all hope we shall remain safe whilst we are abroad, but circumstances might arise where you need some tangible help. This could be if civil unrest breaks out near where you are staying, or your security is otherwise threatened. Drum Cussac will provide specialist security advice and physical help from their local agent in certain circumstances.

FLOW RATES

Flow rates up to 200 UKGPM (908 l/min) are available.
We offer three sizes of pump for every size of pipe:
Option 1, option 2 and option 3.

All materials of pumps are available in all sizes of pipe from 1/2" to 3" – (see pump selection guide on back page.) This allows a 'perfect' pump selection rather than a 'nearest equivalent' and gives you the best possible opportunity to keep pump size and price to a minimum. 3/4", 1 1/4" and 2 1/2" size pumps available upon request.

All pumps are self priming (12ft/3.6m dry and 25ft/7.6m wet). Diaphragm pumps operate on a 1:1 ratio basis. The air pressure supplied will equal the maximum discharge pressure from the pump. Work out your total 'head' and available air (or nitrogen) supply pressure to see maximum pump performance from the graphs shown here.

At the time of going to press all information relating to pump performance is considered to be accurate resulting from extensive testing and is given in good faith. The '3" pumps were not subject to air consumption testing and the information shown is calculated. If air consumption is critical please consult Flotronic Pumps before ordering.

Pumps with upgrades A, B, may reduce flow performance.

SGW Accountancy Services

Logo Design & Corporate Brochure

SGW Accountancy Services Ltd

Accounting, stocktaking and consultancy services for the Licensed Trade

Whether you're a managed house chain, or at local level, an owner, tenant or manager, you will know the importance of finding highly professional, hard-working and client-friendly providers of accountancy, stocktaking and other business-critical financial services.

The great thing about SGW Accountancy Services is that your relationship with us provides all those services ... from just one supplier.

This 'one stop shop' approach makes our partnership straightforward, with no concerns about whether one professional is co-operating with another or duplicating their work. It also makes for cost savings, given the number of tasks can be achieved with each visit.

SGW Accountancy Services provides:

- accounts production
- tax and VAT returns
- book-keeping
- payroll services
- cash flow management and forecasting services
- business planning and advice
- advice on company incorporation and compliance.

More recently, following our merger with highly respected stocktaking specialists, Addstock, we are now able to offer a comprehensive range of financial services and support for the licensed trade including regular and annual audits, stocktaking, end-of-year and change valuations, service-of-tilt reconciliations and stocktaking for probate and insurance purposes.

Offering stocktaking enables us to provide one of the most comprehensive ranges of financial support services in the south, with a particular specialism in providing financial services and support for the licensed trade.

All ... from just one provider.

Stuart Whitehouse

SGW Accountancy Services's founder, Stuart Whitehouse started his accountancy practice as a sole trader and has since grown the business to a limited company. The business has flourished in no small part due to Stuart's understanding of the dynamics of the financial services market-place in which he recognised early on a niche in the market for a more small and medium sized business-friendly accountancy service. Notwithstanding the business' incorporation in April 2005 and our merger with Addstock in August 2010, SGW Accountancy Services maintains this niche focus with Stuart and Tim Cole as joint Directors.

Tim Cole

SGW Accountancy Services Director Tim Cole has had over 25 years experience in bar and food stocktaking for the licensed trade. A fellow of the Institute of Licensed Trade Stock Auditors, Tim has worked for breweries but has more recently concentrated on tenants, leasees and independent free houses.

St. Paul's Girl School

Quarterly Newsletter for Old Paulinas

the review

autumn 2011

Staff farewells

It is rare to find a teacher who can combine knowledge, humour and intellectual passion to such an extent as Amanda Triccas. For over a decade she has been a much loved member of the St Paul's history department and, in more recent years, a greatly admired assistant deputy head for the girls at school.

I have been lucky enough to be taught by Miss Triccas at every key stage of my education - from the very first MIV lesson to my last school history class in the VIII, excitement and laughter have been constant features of her teaching. It is a testament to her inspirational abilities as a teacher that I am eagerly awaiting another three years of historical learning at university.

It is not common for pupils to actively notice and appreciate teaching style itself, yet friends never fail to remark upon Miss Triccas's analogies and metaphors as such a useful tool for their learning "the eas" in particular has helped endless girls through their history exams! Aside from her teaching roles, she has provided an enormous amount of support and friendship to the girls of her tutor groups across the years. Only someone who really knows Paulinas could identify the necessary time in the term for surprise chocolates at registration! Whilst we may not often be shown the full extent of her contribution to the administrative aspects of school life, which have kept the school systems ticking over for years, all girls who have been taught by Miss Triccas will remember her as a wonderful and eccentric presence in their education over the years. Thank you Miss Triccas, and good luck! Chloe Collier (OP 2004-2011)

St Paul's Girls' School is extremely fortunate in the excellence of its modern languages, but we have still not been spared the retirement of Hilary Barker (MacDougall) after 28 years of outstanding classroom service, 19 of which she has devoted to the massive administrative task of running the entire operation. She has nevertheless chosen her moment well, enjoying her "grand climacteric" after presiding masterfully and with great distinction over the largest, most diverse and most polyglot (what else!) of all departments.

She has embraced new technology and teaching practice and responded astutely to the ever-changing face of public examinations. At the same time, she has held the line and guarded jealously the study of foreign literatures. Minority languages too have found in her a powerful advocate. Most recently, she added a new language - Mandarin - to the curriculum. Her readiness to appoint native speakers, where possible, was always testimony to her own linguistic prowess and cosmopolitan sympathies.

Hilary Barker is also one of those few teachers who have managed to carve a significant niche beyond the profession. As Hilary Davies, she enjoys a national reputation as a published poet, and it is therefore most fitting that she leaves us to devote more time to her craft and to literary life generally. No doubt she will also seek inspiration and the bliss of solitude in the southern Peloponnese of Greece. She leaves behind feelings of great affection and gratitude, a sense too of admiration and respect. She goes with our best wishes and many fond farewells...

Au revoir, auf wiedersehen, adios, addio, Γεια σου, 再见 Nick Dakin (English department)

If you attended St Paul's Girls between 1988 and 2011 you owe a debt to Pat Lewis who was in charge of the school reprographic department and in that way kept the teaching staff sane and the school functioning. A never-ending need for photocopying took staff daily into Pat's domain. Pat coped for years and years with the stressed, overheated and dysfunctional... and that was not just the machines.

In a beautifully observed celebration of Pat at her leaving party, Howard Bailes spoke about Pat's enduring gift which was never on any job specification - that in truth she doubled as a counsellor. Pat never failed to listen and remember. She laughed as easily as she commiserated. The fondness staff felt for her was summed up in the standing ovation she received as she stood to make her leaving speech on the last day of term.

Pat's family must be delighted at her retirement but for my part I am lost at the start of this new term. I know that no single person can have done more for the morale of the staff. Kate Evans (modern languages department)

Having recently moved to a sheep farm, I will now be teaching at a school closer to home. Look out for me on Lambing Time! Thanks to all the girls and staff who have made my time at St Paul's so enjoyable - I have many fond memories. Melie PE department 2008-2011

I have had a wonderfully stimulating time, especially through working with such gifted and inspiring department colleagues. Here are some of my favourite teaching memories: the variety and depth of Assembly talks presented; Lucinda's debates; MIV learning to draw in perspective on the Marble each summer; My family and I are now heading to the Midlands, to exchange boxes for bicycles and shopping for sailing, but part of me will always be a West Londoner! Camille Darwis (mathematics department 2002-2011)

I feel very privileged to have taught at such an inspiring school and I've learned so much from my classes and the staff. I've loved teaching such inspiring, quick-witted, especially the fantastic biologists in the VIII. I couldn't have asked for a more wonderful LVI class to have as a form! I'll miss assemblies, class over delicious lunches and all the friends I've made. Jonny Chapman (Biology department 2010-2011)

I have loved being at St Paul's for the last three years and am an old hand to go, but my adventures book including an extended South American journey in a few years time. In the meantime, I hope to finish writing a novel that began during the first St Paul's A-level course the working title is 'Hudson's Daughter' and I am only two chapters away from the final full stop. Sophie Breeze (English department 2001-2011)

Births, engagements, marriages and deaths

Marriages

Lucy Young (OP 1987-1994) married Robert Jenkins (OP) on 5 August 2011. The bridal party included three Old Paulina bridesmaids and two Old Pauline ushers. (1)

Lucy Goodve-Doxler (OP 1992-1999) married Tom Beedham at The Deck at The National Theatre on 4 June 2011. Lucinda Nicholson (OP 1992-1999), Jo Chetwood, Mrs Whelan (OP 1992-1999) and Grace Reynolds (OP 1992-1999) were three of the best women and there were several other Paulinas and Old Paulines to help with the celebrations! (2)

Eve Scrivener (OP 1991 - 1998) married Michael Fraser on 21 May 2011 in Florence, Italy. Davina Hensman (OP 1991 - 1998) was bridesmaid. (3)

Jessica Tipton (OP 1992-1999) married Dr Richard Pest on 30 July 2011 at Walthamstow Hall, Sevenoaks. (4)

Danielle de Foo-Giet (OP 1992-1999) was married to Mr Liam Ching Giet in two ceremonies on the 27 February and the 5 March 2011 so that family and friends on both sides of the Atlantic could be accommodated. Danielle and Liam were happy to have quite a few Paulinas present and two in the London bridal party! (5)

Being on the internet means we can welcome members from all over the world who enjoy our type of cars.

Our website includes a selection of free pdf copies of back issues of our magazine, a photo library of members cars, plus technical advice and help when needed.

If you have a Kougar and want to know more, or are thinking of buying this fantastic car, please use the site or contact us.

THE ORIGINS OF KOUGAR CARS

ABOUT US

Rick Stevens founded Kougar Cars in 1979, although the first (approximately) 300 cars were marketed by a company called Storcourt Wells Ltd. He built the prototype in 1976, which incorporated an aluminium body. All the other cars have a fibreglass bodyshell. Rick still maintains an active interest in the Kougar Owners Club, as its president.

Rick's inspiration for the Kougar originated in his ownership of a Jaguar 5 Type saloon, but recognised that it had a scrap value of only £100 to £200. He also realised that a first class sports car could be made by connecting the heavy lumps of the Jaguar together with a simple light weight body and chassis unit.

The sports car design was not directly inspired by any particular vehicle, but Rick admits to having a certain fondness for the Frazer Nash TT replica and the Healey Silverstone. The first car with an alloy body was sold to an American in 1977, but moulds had prudently been taken from the alloy body and a batch of 5 cars was exported to Australia. The first cars featured a chrome grill, however, this was superseded by a cast alloy grill for a short time, after which a chrome grill was re-instated, albeit with two extra bars in 1979, still used today.

Production of the "Sports" model has been continuous with about 200 cars being sold over the years. In 1979 a second model, the Monza, was developed which utilised Ford engine components. Approximately 40 Monzas found their way mainly to the west coast of America. The Monza was eventually developed to take Jaguar components like the Sports and occasionally fitted with Rover V8 and Jaguar V12 engines, also the Jaguar XK engine.

Over the years about 60% of the cars were supplied as kits, the other 40% were complete cars supplied by Kougar Cars, of which 20% were registered as new and contained all new parts from Jaguar Cars Ltd. Some of these new vehicles were sold by H.R. Owen in London, and other distributors.

In 1990 Kougar Cars was sold to Trent Engineering in Somerset, however, after approximately 18 months this company went into receivership and was taken over by John Killick in 1992, whose interest in the car dates back to 1982, when he built a Sports model of his own.

The new Kougars, both Sports in Mark III form and the Monza, were supplied an extremely comprehensive list of fully built vehicles. The Mk III sports, although updated to take Series 3 XI components is very similar to the original Sports model with a robust space frame chassis and a bonded on glass fibre body. The whole car weighed less than 1,000kg. The chassis was designed to accept the XK6 Series 1, 2 and 3 or, with some modifications V12 components.
